Introduction

For entertainment purposes only. Astrology is a fun lens for reflection, not a prediction or a substitute for professional advice. Nothing in this guide promises any relationship outcome.

For thousands of years, people have looked to the stars for clues about love. Whether you treat astrology as a spiritual practice or simply a fun way to reflect, your Sun sign can offer a playful starting point for thinking about what you value in a partner.

In this guide, you'll find a short profile for each of the 12 zodiac signs. Each one covers three things: the traits that often make a compatible partner for that sign, a few signs you may have met someone who fits, and the signs traditionally considered strong matches.

Keep in mind that real compatibility depends on communication, respect, shared values, and effort, which no chart can measure. Read your sign, read your crush's sign, and use what resonates as a prompt for reflection. Enjoy!

ARIES

March 21 – April 19

✦ TRAITS OF A COMPATIBLE PARTNER

Aries is bold, energetic, and quick to act, so a good match is someone who can keep up without trying to compete for control. Look for a partner who is confident, independent, and adventurous, someone who says yes to spontaneous plans but also has a calm side that helps you slow down when your fire runs hot. Honesty matters most, since Aries tends to prefer directness over mind games.

✦ SIGNS YOU MAY HAVE MET THEM

Conversations feel energizing rather than draining. They challenge you in a playful way and you find yourself trying new things together. You feel free to be impulsive around them, yet they also gently encourage you to think things through. Disagreements blow over quickly because you both say what you mean.

✦ SIGNS YOU MAY HAVE MET THEM
